THE BENWELL TRAGEDY.

Were Two Fortune-Hunters Lured to Death?

ANOTHER ENGLISHMAN MISSING.

Burchell Found Guilty of Murder. Mrs. Burchell an Accessory After the Fact.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 8.—New and sensational developments are cropping up in connection with the Benwell tragedy, and the question now is whether there have not been at least two victims. Two or three years ago a young Englishman, Neville H. Pickthall, came here, purchased a farm six miles south of town, and about four months ago married the daughter of a minister. On February 10th Pickthall raised $1,000 on a mortgage on his farm and left here, saying to his wife: "I am going to double this money before I come back." He was seen at Niagara Falls that night, and said he was going to New York to meet his sister. The testimony in the Burchell examination showed that he reached New York and there met the Burchells. Since then no trace of him has been found, nor any word received from him. The theory now is that he was enticed to New York by Burchell with the expectation of making a large sum of money, and was put out of the way for the money he carried with him.

THE BENWELL INQUEST.

PRINCETON, Ont., March 8.—The inquest on the remains of Benwell was resumed this morning. Pelley, the young man who accompanied Benwell and Burchell to this country, told the story of his acquaintance with Burchell and Benwell, much as he did at Niagara Falls.

The Coroner's jury rendered a verdict finding that Benwell came to his death at the hands of Reginald Burchell, and they implicate his wife as having guilty knowledge of the crime after its commission.

THE EVIDENCE AGAINST BURCHELL.

Burchell was arraigned at Niagara Falls last Tuesday and pleaded not guilty. Young Pelley testified that Burchell had told him what a nice place Pine Pond was, and that he would drive him out to it during the summer in a four-in-hand. Pine Pond is near the place where Benwell's body was found. "Burchell told me," continued the witness, "that Benwell gave him the keys of his trunks in order to pass Benwell's baggage."

A detective testified that Burchell said he could not recognize Benwell's clothing from photographs taken after death, while Pelley quickly recognized them and said that they were made of odd material, and that any person could not be mistaken about them.

George Hay, a Grand Trunk brakeman, swore that he saw the prisoner on Monday at Eastwood station, near the scene of the murder. His trousers were turned up at the bottom and his shoes covered with mud.

Burchell was remanded to jail to await the result of the Coroner's inquest at Princeton.

MRS. BURCHELL ARRAIGNED.

Mrs. Burchell was then arraigned as an accessory to the crime, and the magistrate informed her that he had been instructed by the Attorney-General of Ontario to remand her for seven days. Her counsel protested against the Attorney-General's interference, and Mrs. Burchell wept. A consultation was held and the prisoner allowed to remain at a hotel under police surveillance to enable her counsel to interview the Attorney-General and see if bail could be arranged. The Attorney-General refused to accept bail and ordered that she continue under guard.

Mrs. Burchell is looked upon by the people as being an innocent woman, and as having been duped into marriage with Burchell.

CAN SHE BE PUNISHED?

Pelley believed Mrs. Burchell knew of the plot conceived by her husband to defraud Benwell, and that she was a partner in the fraud. There was little difference of opinion among the jurors as to the question of guilt, the only question being whether or not a verdict should be given in the absence of the prisoners. That portion of the verdict finding Mrs. Burchell accessory after the fact, is criticised. Under the law of Canada, a wife cannot be punished for shielding her husband, and it is asserted, therefore, Mrs. Burchell cannot be made an accessory after the fact in the general sense of the term.

THE POLICE HAVE A THEORY.

The New York World's correspondent at Niagara Falls, working on the Benwell case, says that the Dominion police have a theory that in England there is an association of some kind which makes ill-gotten gains by preying upon credulous young Enlishmen, younger sons and youths in quest of building up fortunes, mostly, and inducing them under very much the same pretexts by which Burchell is said to have lured Benwell and Pelley hither to seek a new world. The supposition is that there is a middle man in London, with agents in his employ, and that these agents bring young fellows whom they are to dupe. For two or three years, in some British newspapers, advertisements have been appearing to the effect that young men in search of good living might find it in the Dominion. It was such an advertisement in the London Standard that three or four months ago caught Pelley's eye. That advertisement was Burchell's, and it evidently caught Benwell as well.

A Big Enterprise.

ST. PAUL, March 8.—A big deal in creameries is learned by the Pioneer Press, and greater developments will follow. O. E. Marvin and Edward Cammack owned an extensive line of creameries in this State; in fact their creamery business was probably one of the largest in the world. A company has been formed with a paid up capital of $300,000, having among its stockholders the big London firm of Brown Bros., who paid $200,000 for the control of the company. Henry Villard also purchased stock in the new company, which will be extended along the line of the Northern Pacific to the Pacific Coast, and also to be firmly established in England.

STILL ALIVE.

Some Hope Yet for the Eight Entombed Miners.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 8.—The fate of the eight men entombed in the South Wilkesbarre shaft, five days ago, is not sealed for good yet. Workmen engaged in laying pipe from the Stanton mine to the Nillman mine, were startled this evening by a loud knocking on the main water pipe, which runs all through the mines. The men stopped work. All at once George McDonald cried out, "My God! is it possible the men are still alive?" There is good reason to believe now they are. If they are, their whereabouts must be on top of the lift of the Hillman vein. They are able to get air there, and as they had a mule with them at the time of the explosion the theory is that they may have managed to live by slaughtering and eating it. Redoubled efforts will be made to find them.

Mark Twain Enjoined.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Judge Daly, in the Court of Common Pleas today, granted Author and Playwright Edward H. Housey, an injunction restraining Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), Mrs. Abbey Sage Richardson and Daniel Frohman from producing the Prince and Pauper. Housey claimed to have had a contract with Clemens to dramatize the book, and did so; that at the same time Clemens made an arrangement with Mrs. Richardson, authorizing her version, and he claimed this to be an infringement of his own dramatization, and that some parts of it were based on his own suggestions to Clemens. Manager Frohman will appeal.

Ominous News from Brazil.

NEW YORK, March 8.—A private telegram from Rio de Janeiro states that exchange fell today to 22¼ pence, a drop of two pence, the lowest point touched for five years. It is surmised that this indicates some sudden internal commotion in Brazil, of which the cable is not allowed to speak. The dispatch also states that coffee and rubber are greatly excited.

It is officially denied at Rio that the Government has resolved to promulgate a constitution prior to the constituent assembly.

Proud of Her Burly Son.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 8.—Jack Hefferon and Carter, local pugilists of some note, fought this morning near Will's Creek for $100 a side, London prize ring rules. After a desperate fight Hefferon was declared the winner in the twenty-fourth round. Both men were badly punished. Among the eighty spectators present was the mother of Hefferon, who cheered her boy on. When he was declared the winner she clasped him in her arms, after which she took him home and dressed his injuries.

Linemen Strike.

OMAHA, March 8.—The linemen of this city, about 125, decided last night to quit work until their demand for an increase of wages was conceded by their employers. This action was taken by the Union Order of Linemen, which includes the linemen employed by the electric light company, Western Union, Union Pacific and telephone company. The companies interested refused to grant the increase, which is from $2.10 and $2.25 to $2.50 and $2.65.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Express Robbers' Schemes Miscarry.

RENEGADE APACHES CAPTURED.

High Water Up North—Yuba and Feather Rivers Booming. Railroad Taxes.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—George W. Gregory and John R. Ewing were arrested this evening on the charge of robbing Wells, Fargo & Co. of $212 two months ago, and the men confessed that they had engaged in a plot contemplating an extensive series of robberies. Gregory was formerly a messenger in the employ of Wells, Fargo & Co., but he resigned his position last December. Before doing so, however, he obtained a key which would unlock the treasure boxes of the company and another key which would give him access to express cars. He took Ewing into his confidence, and on January 5th, last, they boarded a ferryboat at Oakland, and while Gregory kept watch, Ewing climbed into an express wagon which was being ferried over, and while the driver was standing at the horses' heads unlocked the treasure box and extracted a package containing $212, which the men escaped with.

While Gregory was in the employ of the company he secured the combinations of about forty safes in country offices of the company, and the men next attempted to rob the safes at Petaluma, Santa Rosa and Sacramento, but were unsuccessful, the combinations having been changed.

They then engaged the services of another man, whose name is unknown, and formed a plan to hold up one of the express messengers on the overland train on its arrival at Oakland. Their courage failed them as they were about to execute this plan.

Gregory and Ewing next went to Lathrop to rob an express car there, and were planning to go to Fresno for the same purpose, when they were arrested.

The troops had a sharp fight with the Indians, resulting in the killing of two of the renegades and the capture of the other three, one of whom was wounded. The troops had traveled over 360 miles of the roughest country in the Territory, and in this skirmish with the Indians escaped without a scratch. The killed were buried where they fell, and the prisoners were brought here today. They will be taken to San Carlos, and later will be turned over to the authorities of Graham county.

RAILROAD TAXES.

They are Uncollectible Under the New State Constitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The Supreme Court this morning decided the long pending contest over railroad taxes. The decision is in favor of the railroad companies, the court holding that the complaint is defective, and that the mode of collection of taxes under the constitution is unconstitutional. There were five suits, the defendants being the Central Pacific Company, Northern Railway Company, San Pablo and Tulare Company, Southern Pacific Railroad Company and California Pacific Railroad Company. The decision is rendered in the case of the first named. It was written by Justice Fox, and is concurred in by Justices McFarland, Patterson, Sharpstein and Works, while Justice Thornton and Chief Justice Beatty dissented, the latter writing a short opinion in support of his views. The points involved concern the right of the State and counties to collect taxes under the provisions of the new constitution.

He alleges that in 1882 he agreed with Henry B. Slavin and M. A. Slavin, since deceased, to subscribe for 2,000 shares of stock of the American Contracting and Dredging Company, which the Slavins controlled. The stock, however, was never delivered, though he stood ready to pay for the same. The value of the shares and of the dividends declared would now amount to the sum sued for. H. B. GERMAN POLITICS.

Emperor William's Autocratic Utterances.

WILL TOLERATE NO OPPOSITION.

The New Reichstag is a Study—Bismarck Will Leave it Cook In its Own Juice.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

BERLIN, March 8.—[Copyright, 1890, by the New York Associated Press.]—The Government has decided to open business in the Reichstag with projects prepared by the Council of State, foremost of which are bills regulating work on Sunday, and restricting the hours of labor of women and children. The more complex measures, relating to the hours of male adults, and miners' work per day, will be reserved until the autumn session. A bill will also be presented aiming to control strikes, and an anti-Anarchist measure, designed to replace the anti-Socialist law. It is impossible to foresee how the heterogenous elements of the Reichstag will group themselves upon the Government's proposals. The official expectation is that the projects of the Council of State will be quietly discussed and accepted, but the army credits and anti-Anarchist law will test the position of the Government toward the majority. The Freissinnige organs say if the Centrists throw their vote against the Government a dissolution will be immediately pronounced. Bismarck is going to the country on the broad, simple platform of the maintenance of the efficiency of the army.

Although the clerical press is reserved on the subject, suggestive allusions constantly recur to the resolutions adopted at the recent Catholic congress in favor of foreign intervention at Rome. The first terms asked will be educational concessions. When these shall have been granted, whatever pressure the Centrists can exercise they will concentrate upon an effort to effect the rupture of the existing compact with Italy.

The anti-Anarchist bill is the Emperor's inspiration, and was assented to by Bismarck. It is the anti-Socialist law under a new name. It is understood that the expulsion clause of the anti-Socialist law is omitted, and the bill permits a wider freedom of discussion in the press and on the platform, and enacts severer penalties against assailants of the Crown and Government.

The Emperor's speech at Brandenburg, Wednesday, continues to excite the greatest public interest. The official version in the North German Gazette, instead of modifying, intensifies the Emperor's declaration of absolutism. In a most remarkable passage he said: "I see in the people and the land entrusted to me by God a talent which, as the Bible says, it is my duty to increase. I mean with all my strength to so trade with my talent that I will be enabled to add many another thereto. Those who help me I heartily welcome. Those who oppose me I dash to pieces."

All classes of papers are commenting on this according to their political views.

The Pomeranian Reichs Post urges the Emperor to establish a dictatorship. Other papers advise the suppression of universal suffrage and the suspension of the sittings of the Reichstag if opposition becomes violent. The Rheinische Westphaliche Zeitung, a Bismarckian organ, asserts that the Chancellor, freely criticizing the result of the elections, said: "We shall leave the new Reichstag to cook in its own juice."

FRANCE AND DAHOMEY.

The King Refuses to Recognize The French Protectorate.

PARIS, March 8.—In the Deputies today Etienne stated that the King of Dahomey refused to recognize the French protectorate over the slave coast, and had invaded that territory, but had been repulsed. He also said if the King refused to satisfy the demands of France it would be necessary to take vigorous measures, not with a view to the conquest of Dahomey, but for the purpose of giving a salutary lesson to the King and the people.

Advices from the west coast of Africa state that the position of the French in Dahomey is critical. Baoul, the French agent, demands that 4,000 men be sent to defend the post, and declares if an expedition to Aghome, the capital of Dahomey, is undertaken, a further force of 4,000 men will be necessary. He considers that an attempt to conquer Dahomey would prove futile. He holds that it will be preferable to secure French rule on the coast.

It is reported here this evening that the trouble between France and Dahomey has been settled.

The snow falls back faster than it can be carried out. The rotary is stuck hopelessly in the cut. When the storm ceases it can be shoveled out; not before. The cyclone is broken and gone to Sacramento for repairs. Assistant Trainmaster Nativia is running the push plows between Truckee and tunnel 13, with five engines attached, keeping the track clear. Firing then became general, and one of the Italians was fatally shot. The remainder of the Italians were then overpowered and locked up, but the people at Wampum fear that a large mass of their countrymen, working near there, will attempt to rescue them.

ENGINEER CULVER'S OPINION.

He Submits a Plan That Is Not So Costly as the Proposed System.

Property owners of this city have waited patiently for a high-priced opinion and programme from an eastern source, to teach them something about the way to handle our sewer problem, and are about to vote on it for the second time. The old saying, "that you must go away from home to learn the news," is illustrated in this case, when the City Council sent 3,000 miles from home for an expert to come here and razzle-dazzle us, and who came like a quick flash, blinding us for the time, and as suddenly departed. We have now partially recovered from this meteoric light, and find that we have been left a mere walk-over in sewer easiness, by estimates for our little city to bond itself for the mere trifle of $1,597,900. "Distance lends enchantment to the view," and we know precisely what we knew before, i. e., that we have to build sewers in the city proper, which is not but to engineers of fair education and experience, a very practical matter and not attended by any serious difficulties at all.

A simple area calculation for capacity, and a selection of gradient routes which nature has provided for outlets by a natural drainage, and on the principle that water will run down hill, does not require any great imported talent to demonstrate, and especially in this country where people are naturally educated by the irrigation of lands and handling of water. But we have no solution of the problem of utilizing our sewage beyond what we knew at home, and which does us no good, and for which a large sum has been paid an expert to repeat to us.

GUIDING LIGHTS.

We have before us the practical experience of hundreds and thousands of cities and towns, at home and abroad, that have been well sewered and drained, and with all the adjuncts of sanitary appliances, engineering skill and the most recent practices in the art of building sewer works to date. So far as talent is concerned in the mere laying of a sewer, it is conceded that any experienced brick or vitrified pipe-layer or mason is master of all the simple details of construction, and requires but sub-grade stakes at proper intervals to guide the line of water run, and which grades are about the most simple problem in field-work engineering. What has been required from the beginning has been some genius to tell us what we could do, practically, with the refuse sewer water collected at three points near the southerly boundary of the city. Has anyone given us anything new on that point, or anything we did not know already?

THE CITIZENS' SEWER COMMITTEE

Examined these questions in a fair and painstaking manner. They spent their time freely and were actuated by motives of great earnestness, and accomplished a good deal toward a solution of the problem of utilizing the sewage, and pointed out various practical ways of doing so. They suggested the procurement of a right of way to the sea, they pointed out the ways of using the partly purified sewage for the use of farmers, partly based upon uses elsewhere. They brought out facts, some of them of startling importance, such as an enhancement of the value of land that rented without sewage for $2 50 per acre to $30 and $25 per acre with it. And above all, that the entire works could be well built and abundantly capacious for all uses for many years to come, complete.

FOR A SUM NOT EXCEEDING $7,000,

Including a sea outlet, all to be done on a rational business basis, and no nonsense or waste connected with it.

And still, in face of these well-known local facts, we are told by the expert of the City Council, brought here 3,000 miles at an expense of $1,275, that our sewage cannot be treated for the uses we desire for less than 50 to 75 cents per capita per year for each inhabitant! Citing Providence, R. I., as an example, at 50 cents per head, and Orange, N. J., as another, at 75 cents per head.

WHAT ANALOGY

Can possibly be drawn as between these two cities and Los Angeles as to sewage waste, it is hard to discover. The two former cities named are situated in a rainy country, where moisture is sufficient the year around, and where supernatant sewer water can be of no earthly value, but, on the contrary, a waste nuisance to be gotten rid of, and if the treatment is made of the sewage it is because it is to rid it of solid matter and to turn the valueless, to them, resultant fluid into the nearest outlet to mitigate in some measure what otherwise would be a greater nuisance.

HOW OFTEN

Will it be necessary to reiterate these things, and submit to their sophistry attempted to be used continually to throw dust in the eyes of the thinking people who have too much intelligence not to see it; and show that what has not proved profitable or suitable in other climates is diametrically reversed here? We admit that there is little value in solids of sewage matter, but who is there that can deny for this climate that even the partly purified sewage water cannot be prepared, fitting it for agricultural purposes for less than 50 to 75 cents per inhabitant per year?

It is likely that

THE AMOUNT OF WATER SUPPLY

Furnished this city is about 5,000,000 of gallons every twenty-four hours. This is about 60 gallons per head for 80,000 people. Of this amount there could not, by scarcely any possibility, be more than one-third used that could not find its way into the sewers by water-closets, sinks, etc. Outside of underseepage, which can be shut out, this would be 20 gallons every twenty-four hours per head, or 1,680,000 gallons of the water supply for sewer treatment, the balance being used mostly for lawns, garden-sprinkling, streets, etc. Let this amount be figured upon for treatment. The gauging of the present outlet, as stated in the report of the "engineer," at 380 gallons per head per day, for 80,000 inhabitants, would be 30,400,000 gallons every 24 hours—more water by nearly three times over than the whole dry-season surface capacity of the whole Los Angeles river!

We will presume that three double-collecting basins will be used as settling tanks, built on principles for self-cleansing, and calculate one double basin for each of these three collecting points proposed, each to be 220x220x10 feet in size, and holding about 3,000,000 gallons each; the aggregate capacity would be 9,000,000 gallons, or sufficient for about six-days' sewage output.

At convenient points lime water (milk of lime) at the rate of 10 solid grains of lime per gallon of sewage would be introduced some distance above the inlet to the basin under treatment, until it is filled; then allow the solids to subside, and when this is done, say in eight to twelve hours, draw off the supernatant water for irrigating purposes, using the second or alternate tank meanwhile, thus changing from one to the other continuously.

THE LIME PROCESS

Has been applied to sewage upon an extensive scale at Tottenham, England. In the ninth report of the medical officer of the Privy Council it is stated "that at Leicester, England, the elaborate outfall works succeed in their object of purifying the river from nuisance. The river used to be very foul. Now, with far more sewage discharged, there is only a little discoloration just at the outlet. The process consists in the mixture with the sewage of a certain proportion of the milk of lime, after which a copious deposit of highly putrescible mud takes place, while the supernatant liquid flows off in a comparatively clear, though somewhat milky condition. Prof. Way found that from ten to sixteen grains of slacked lime per gallon of sewage was sufficient to precipitate ordinary sewage."

Instead of trying to treat the small quantity of solid matter which costs more than it is worth, and is constantly cited as costing large sums to dry, compress and get rid of, we have no especial need of treating it, and thus avoid expensive plants and treatment. We want the fluid portion instead, which carries most of the value and worth to us as an irrigating water, as we get most of the fertilizers as well. Then sluice out the precipitated sludge through a modified outlet to the ocean, thus getting rid of it nearly without handling, and at a nominal expense.

The solid matter will average, by estimates from good authorities, about 7½ ounces per head every twenty-four hours, which, for a population of 80,000, would be about 37,500 pounds, or some 3,750 gallons, and daily, say, 300,000 gallons drawn from the supernatant water of the adjoining tank would sweep the sludge cleanly to the sea every twenty-four hours. By an intermittent treatment of this nature there is no doubt but what this whole subject would be easy of solution and practically successful. The series of tanks would be set so as to work on hydraulic principles, by gravitation, so nearly automatically arranged that

ONE ATTENDANT

Would simply tend the supply and delivery gates, and command at will any of the requisites in the operation, to-wit:

First—Direct the raw sewage into either tank desired to fill.

Second—Turn on any quantity in any direction required of the partly purified sewage for irrigation.

Third—In case of any derangement, the ocean outlet stands ready to dispose of all or any part of the volume of sewage.

Fourth—A trial could be made by the city of small works of this nature after the sea outlet was made to fully test its merits before building large and complete works, so there would be little risk.

Now, let us see what this plant would cost:

Three basins at $8.000	$24,000
Pipes and appurtenances, etc.	21,000
Total cost	$45,000
Expenses, 8 per cent. on $45,000	$ 3,600
Six men to run works	4,380
Ten barrels lime per day, 3,650 pounds at $1	3,650
Incidentals	2,000
Total	$13,650

This sum would amount to about 17 cents per head per year. The sewage treated would be sufficiently purified for use.

The route selected for the Ballona sea outlet is about the poorest one, so far as ground is concerned, that could be found, and how any sensible or practical construction could be made on that route, located as it is through a boggy marsh, reported in places eighteen feet deep to bottom, and lengthwise of the marsh at that, is beyond comprehension. Will the owners of the Cienega ranch—Baldwin & Co.—allow that great and "the water run into the creek," as stated in the engineer's report? Other good and suitable ground is available, and there is no question that if the swamp route is selected, untold and unforeseen construction difficulties and expense will be encountered. A limited space along the Southern Pacific railway, after leaving room for the track and safe distance, will have to be followed over a long distance of boggy, swampy ground, and little room will be left to operate upon in the construction. Hard ground can be found on which to construct this work for most of the distance, and it only requires average engineering judgment to select it. It is also manifestly for the best interest of the city to condemn or buy and own its own right of way to the sea, over the best gradient ground that can be selected, so as hereafter to have no entangling alliances with any railroad right of way or otherwise.

It is more than likely that the taxpayers of this city can get all of this work done in a good, substantial, workman-like manner, suitable for present purposes, and from ten to twenty years additional, for not to exceed seven hundred thousand dollars. The figures for this basis are plain to thinking minds.

City main drainage works	$250,000

*Grand total	$594,500

*(NOTE.—I allow for 184,100 lineal feet of city main sewers to cost $300,000, while the voters are called upon to vote away $374,000 for only 84,000 feet of city mains, less than one-half the number of lineal feet proposed in my estimate.)

Add to this sum $105,000 for any possible contingency, and we have a total of $700,000. If a private association of business men were contemplating the accomplishment of this purpose, they could do it in a good, substantial workmanlike manner for the sum named, so far as the building of purification works is concerned, and an outlet to the ocean. Why do we want to put dead capital into the ground for a population of 200,000, when we have probably not more than a present population of 70,000?

The work that I have outlined for treating stations is ample for a population of 100,000, and there is a great likelihood that the ocean-outlet sewer would be sufficient for 200,000. Suppose, by growth, in fifteen years we have used up the capacity of the ocean-outlet and treating stations I outline, what hinders the enlargement of the precipitation works and ocean outlet by adding a few more treating basins, and laying another duplicate concrete pipe alongside of the one proposed.

Capital at 8 per cent., compounded, will double itself in nine years, so that all the surplus plant put into the ground at the end of nine years will have eaten itself up before any commercial value or use can be realized from it.

Now let us take portions of the

ENGINEER'S REPORT

Made to the City Council, and see what that is made of, and how it fits our needs. Passing over a lot of unimportant matter in the report, we arrive at a point where its language deals in general details that can be considered. It says:

"The estimates of cost hereinafter presented are based upon the requirements of first-class work throughout, and upon the demands for a population of 200,000 people and a daily amount of sewage equal to 20,000,000 gallons, with a maximum flow at the rate of 30,000,000 gallons."

When will Los Angeles be a city of 200,000? Certainly not sooner than nine years, and even if then it will be a phenomenal growth, unprecedented and not at all likely. More probably in nine years we may have a population of 100,000. Therefore, what sense is there in spending great sums of money for a suppositious and unlikely growth? Where is the 20,000,000 gallons coming from to supply the city with water, to say nothing of the maximum flow of 30,000,000 gallons?

The whole surface flow of the Los Angeles river in the dry season, as near as I can judge by a gauging of that stream, only amounts to about 13,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours, and even if the water supply amounted to 20,000,000 gallons, what proportion of it will find its way into the new sewer system? It is entirely safe to say it will not, under any safe contingency, amount to over 33 per cent., the larger amount going on grass lawns, flowers, sprinkling streets and multitudes of other surface uses. The total amount of water furnished this city is about as follows, estimated from the dryest time last summer for twenty-four hours:

Los Angeles City Water Company	4,000,000
West Side works	700,000
East Side works	200,000
Total gallons	4,900,000

This, for a population of say 70,000, is 70 gallons per capita per day, and 33 per cent. for sewage uses, would be about 1,600,000 gallons that would find its way into sewers.

We are told large amounts of

UNDER DRAINAGE

Will have to be provided for, but according to the report we can allow the 50 per cent. cited as the amount of under drainage into the new works, and even then would only have in sewage output 3,200,000 gallons in twenty-four hours, while the inexpensive sea outlet I have outlined has a daily capacity of 14,000,000 gallons. I again quote the engineer's report:

"The cast-iron outfall into the ocean is to cost $60,000, and $20 000 were assumed to cover the expenses for the purchase of right of way and the necessary frontage. The outfall should extend about 2,000 feet from the shore into 35 feet of water, and consist of two pipes, each 36 inches in diameter. For the present it would be necessary to lay only one 3-foot pipe. A greater diameter would cause an insufficient velocity and deposits."

Now here is an admission that one 3-foot pipe is deemed sufficient to carry all the sewage, and we are told the outfall sewer must be 4 by 5½ feet in size, and to cost with its expensive appurtenances $696,775, as against the ocean outlet proposed, $175,000.

The main drainage works of the city can be and should be entirely constructed of vitrified and concrete pipes from 8 to 24 inches internal diameter, and when more than one 24 inch pipe is needed by reason of a larger main drainage, duplicate them or lay on parallel streets. I think the mains and trunks as planned are considerably larger than needed.

WHAT MEMPHIS HAS DONE.

Memphis, Tenn., contains a population of about 35,000. The main outlet sewer is one foot eight inches in internal diameter, and is based on a flow of sewage of forty gallons per head per day. All the other sewers are of vitrified pipes from 6 to 15 inches in diameter.

There are over 20 miles of these sewers, and 125 flush-tanks, each automatic flush-tank holding 125 gallons. The total cost, including expenditure of all kinds, has been $137,000, or $687 per mile, while the original estimate for the same town was from $800,000 to $2,225,000 by other methods. The main and outlet sewers have an inclination of from 1 in 400 feet to 1 in 600 feet. No obstruction has ever taken place in the 8, 10, 12, 15 or 20-inch mains. At the same ratio for our population—double that of Memphis—say 70,000, the relative cost for Los Angeles would be $274,000, at the same ratio of cost, for 20 miles of sewers for the city proper.

Again quoting from the engineer's report:

"Near Boston the sewage is discharged at the shores of an island into the ocean, during the falling tide, with the rate of 36,000,000 gallons per day."

Here is another case to show that for a population of 480,000, the entire output, including storm-drainage and everything, amounts to 75 gallons per head per day, or 70,000 people at the same ratio, 5,250,000 gallons, about the water supply I have estimated for Los Angeles.

Take San Francisco, a city nearer home, population 350,000, the water supply is 17,000,000 gallons per day, making about 50 gallons per day per head. How, then, can any one figure, as stated in the "engineer's" report, viz., "amount of house water is usually found to be very nearly equal to the amount used for domestic supply, which in this city is estimated to be 115 gallons per head per day." This would be for a population of 70,000 about 8,000,000 gallons every 24 hours, and if every gallon of it entered the sewers, instead of about 33 per cent. of it, as is usually the case, the works roughly outlined by me would

STILL BE SUFFICIENT

To more than properly sewer this city and dispose of it to a proper ocean outlet and irrigating works, and also, after a little attention, lead to the best treatment of the liquid portion of the sewage for lands in a way to be of profit and satisfaction and within the bounds of prudent economy.

Look at these two estimates, the first as proposed by the City Council to be submitted to the vote of the people, and the second as made by the Sewer Commission, a body of men actuated by every sense of wisdom, and looking at the whole subject from a careful business, as well as professional standpoint, whose estimates have not as yet been questioned, and who estimated things at their practical worth, and in quantity sufficient to accomplish the work in a first-class manner, and with no stint or niggardliness at that.

To be voted on March 13, 1890, for the interior of the city proper	$ 374,000
Storm drains, March 14, 1890	527,000
For ocean outlet sewer, March 15, 1890	696,900
Total	$1,597,900

Estimate based on the Citizens' Sewer Commission's investigations:

For the interior of the city proper	$300,000
Ocean outlet	200,000
For one storm drain from Hope street to Los Angeles river, on Seventh street, about 10,500 feet long	100,000
Precipitation tanks and works	50,000
Incidentals	50,000
Total	$700,000

RECAPITULATION.

Scheme as submitted to voters	$1,597,900
As advised by Citizens' Commission	700,000
Difference in favor of economy	$ 897,900

In view of the vast difference between these figures, it seems as though it would be better to DEFEAT THE ENTIRE SCHEME.

It is better to be right and wait, than to have sewers now and be wrong. Prudent people will go far in the way of progress of the times, but have no sympathy with the sick sentimentality that says we must go ahead and build our sewers, right or wrong, or we will lose our reputation as a sanitarium.

All the good name we have as a city has been gained before a complete sewage system was built, and it looks highly improbable that a few months more waiting, by which we may save, if we will, some $379,900, will be made up by increased patronage of tourists within a few months. It is a very facile operation to print and issue $1,597,900 in paper bonds, but how about pay day in gold coin?

The sum is one that the people of this city are to decide upon. Los Angeles is able to vote five times the amount, if needed, and her people would do so with fervor if the occasion required it; but when it comes to indorsing an extravagant system, such as has only been briefly outlined, will she do it? Let us hope, with the same fervent wish, her unmistaken answer will be, at least on the ocean outlet and the storm drains, if not on the whole scheme, a thunder-voiced No!

SCALY SKIN DISEASES

Psoriasis 5 years, covering face, head and entire body with white scabs. Skin red, itchy and bleeding. Hair all gone. Spent hundreds of dollars. Pronounced incurable. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scabs fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES; after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and one box of CUTICURA and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had sufered for five years. I thought the disease would leave a very deep scar, but the CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. I know of others who have received great benefit from their use.

IS HE A BAD PENNEY?

He Turns Up at Last and His Wife Sues for a Divorce.

Alexander Penney is an old-timer among old-timers here in the semi-tropics. He was born in North Carolina forty-seven years ago, and came to this section while a young man, bringing with him a young wife. It was,if memory serves the reporter with truth, about the close of the war. The young couple came here poor, but with plenty of vigor and with frugal, industrious habits. Penney went into the sheep business, either as the owner of a small band, or perhaps, as is more likely, to herd for someone else. In old times he was in partnership with Senator McComas, of Pomona. In those days there was money in sheep. Ranges could be had free, or nearly so, and the flocks increased at the rate of 125 per cent., the wool paying more than all the expenses of taking care of a band of moderate size. But it was a hard life. Those who took care of the flocks had to be out at all times of the day or night. The rains of winter, the frosty nights, the suns of summer, the parched and dusty hillsides all had to be endured.

For years Penney followed this sort of life; but he did not toil and endure alone. By his side, at all times, in winter rains and frosts, or in summer heats, by night and day, his faithful young wife was the equal bearer of all his hardships. There was nothing in the way of toil and exposure she shrank from to aid her husband in his struggle to become wealthy. And all things prospered with them in all ways. Their flocks increased and their worldly possessions grew apace. Nor was that all. As the years passed many pledges of affection were borne by the wife, and the little hut on the mesa, or the tent on the plain was full of the bright laughter of children. In all half a dozen children came to bless the home of Alexander Penney and his wife, a new incentive each one to renewed energy and effort.

Thus time wore on, laying its hand somewhat heavily on the brows of this toiling pair, for their life was not an easy one. The wife's locks became sprinkled with frosts like those light ones that lay some mornings on the meadows where the flocks fed. Then these became heavier, and the crow's feet crept around the corners of her eyes, that still looked bravely out on a life that was pleasant, if not one of pure ease. The same was in a large measure the case with the man, and so they both began to grow old together, happily content as they saw their children increase toward manhood to take their place.

When the boom came they were well off, and Penney sold all he had to go into the real estate business. He prospered marvelously at this, and became one of the most daring operators in the market. He made money hand over fist, and had the reputation when the boom closed of being worth a quarter of a million. He might be worth more. And here in the day of his great prosperity came the change that is like to wreck his fortunes. With such a fortune, at the vigorous age of 45, with his wife still in perfect health, and five or six children around his table his lot was decidedly enviable. He might have lived for many happy years to enjoy the rich fruits of his years of toil and days of good luck.

Some two years ago a young woman of buxom appearance and rather dashing mien came on the scene of the daily life of the Penneys. Alexander, it is reported, introduced her to his family as a niece who had come out from the East. Mrs. Penney, in her kindness of heart and innocence of wrong, urged that she be taken care of, as her means were supposed to be limited. Mr. Penney thought this not necessary, but that it would be better if she took care of herself. She took up her abode at a lodging house in this city, where she remained for some time. One day going out to Beaumont, the young woman met an old friend of Penney and they talked about his affairs. The friend said he was worth a quarter of a million. "Oh, yes," she said with much enthusiasm, "uncle is worth half a million." Then Penney and the young woman went to San Francisco. If Dame Rumor is to be relied upon, Penney told his wife that his health was poor, and he was going to have it looked after. His particular ailment was represented as being a lack of manly vigor, which he desired to have restored. On the way to San Francisco they sat together in the same seat in a way that was noticed by some of the passengers who knew Penney. To all who spoke to them, he introduced the young woman as his niece. They stayed together in San Francisco for some time, and then were lost to public view in Los Angeles for some time.

Penney's family next went to the Azusa, and no one thought much of the absence of Penney until the family began to suffer. The people of the Azusa began to talk about the poor way in which they were living, which was notoriously noticeable. The story was that he was allowing then only $25 per month for the six of them. He was in Chicago, and soon after he left San Francisco a bill came to his agent in this city for $50 for a portrait painted for him of a lady. Meantime he seemed to grudge his family the mere pittance they were living on. He wanted to cut this down. They were living on potatoes and flour and the young ladies' feet were like the woman in the burlesque song, "a holy show." He proposed to buy them potatoes and flour at wholesale, so as to make the cost less.

During this whole winter it has been almost impossible to discover his whereabouts. Trap after trap has been laid to catch him. Decoy letters have been written and detectives set to watch the Chicago postoffice for three days at a time; but no trace of Penney has been discovered. It was a mystery where or how he kept concealed. Every now and then a piece of real estate was transferred from Penney to some one named James W. Kelly. Attempts were made to identify this person by decoy letters sent to Chicago, but while many a Kelly with a J. W. before his patrignym slid up to the general delivery window. the right Kelly managed to "slide, Kelly, slide" out of sight.

So things ran their course until a few days ago when Alexander Penney turned up in this city, as if he had been in daily communication with his family. It was not known what would be the outcome to all this in circles where the facts were known as they have been for six months to a HERALD reporter. An effort was to be made to settle up on some amicable basis, if possible. But all these efforts appear to have been futile, for the denouement of all this story began to come out yesterday, when Wells, Guthrie & Lee, attorneys for Mrs. Penney, began suit for divorce from her husband, Alexander Penney, alleging, it is said, that the pleadings set forth adultery as the reason why the decree should be signed.

If Mrs. Penney succeeds in establishing any such chain of facts as are asserted to be true, and on which the divorce is claimed, it would be hard to find a more fickle record of foolishness in the country.

Four Years on Crutches.

For fifteen years I was afflicted with rheumatism, four years of which I was compelled to go on crutches. Words are inadequate to express the suffering I endured during that time. During these fifteen years of existence (it was not living), I tried every known remedy without receiving any benefit. I finally began on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which from the first gave me relief, and today I am enjoying the best of health, and am a well man. I candidly believe that S. S. S. is the best blood purifier on the market today. J. D. Citrus Fair Edition.

Thursday's HERALD will be a Citrus Fair edition. It will be finely illustrated and largely devoted to the exhibits and to matter touching upon the orange industry. We shall publish an extra large edition of this number, and those who desire to avail themselves of advertising space or special write-ups, will do well to make their wants known to the business department at once.

The Interior System and the Outfall.

When the vote was cast on the sewer bonds last August, one of the things which had much to do with the defeat of the scheme was the fact that the ring, intent on nothing except to have their own way, flatly refused to separate the interior system from the outfall sewer. "You must take that or get nothing," was the modest way in which taxpayers were appealed to to vote away a million and a quarter dollars. After the bonds were defeated by the people, the chagrined ring declared that sooner or later the people would have to accept the plan proposed in some shape or other.

After a lapse of over half a year the taxpayers are asked to vote again, the bonds being mechanically cut into three sections, one series for the interior system, one for the storm water drains and one for the outfall. The people are disposed with much unanimity to vote the first series of bonds under proper circumstances. But there are a good many friends of the interior system who are disposed to doubt whether the circumstances are proper. In fact it looks as if the ring had cunningly devised things so as to force the people now as then to accept their scheme entire or get nothing. The segregation of the bonds into sections is only apparent and not real. The interior system is so taken to the city limits as to make it necessary that the outfall sewer be built. Has the ring practiced a trick upon the people? If a trick has been practiced in this, the bonds will deserve the fate that impends over them. The objection of a large and most intelligent portion of the people last August was that the outfall was an unnecessary expense to build, and a wasteful disposition of the sewage to use. They insisted that the sewage is of too great value to be run into the ocean when it might go to fertilize large tracts of land. Now this is not the opinion of a newspaper engineer, it is that of a civil engineer thoroughly equipped to pass on the question, and by experience well qualified to have an opinion as to the value of sewage for irrigation in this section. He has always been of the opinion that the sewage ought to be so used, that the river-bed furnished a natural outlet to the ocean in time of heavy rain, and that the outfall sewer is an unnecessary expense. He was of the committee to devise the sewer system, but drew out when he found the ring bent on their old plan in disguise. The sewage is made to debouch at a point where it must go to the ocean or form a lake, is his opinion.

There is in the HERALD today another opinion as to the inside system from the pen of another competent engineer. He thinks it is unnecessarily expensive, and for that reason objectionable.

The ring never does anything that is not expensive. It never proposes anything that is not extravagant. In these features of the sewer system lies, as we have pointed out from the beginning the danger to the entire scheme. Unable to force the people to accept their plans plainly stated, they now trust to carry them under a thin disguise. All they care for or think of is to spend money, no matter how obtained, no matter with what poor results. But get money and spend money is their whole philosophy. The people do not propose to be cajoled now any more than they proposed to be coerced last August.

ALTHOUGH the efforts of the Young Men's Christian Association to raise money to meet the debt upon their building have not as yet been as successful as they ought to have been, yet the subscriptions have brought the total down to nearly thirty thousand dollars. Between this and the 15th there ought to be a grand, united effort made by all our people to save this fine property to the Association. If enough money should be subscribed to bring the debt down to say, $10,000, the property could be saved. We have many wealthy Christian people in our midst who cannot afford to let this movement fail. It would not only be discreditable to them as Christians to stand by and let the property be lost, but it would be a reflection upon our whole city to permit the Sheriff to place it under the hammer. Now is the time for everybody to lend a helping hand.

BUFFALO BILL is far more robust than he was when he fought under General Washington at Trenton. Like good wine, the Revolutionary hero improves with age.

The Railroad Tax Cases Lost.

The Supreme Court of the State has taken the same view that the U. S. Circuit Court took in regard to the power of the State to apply a different principle of taxation to the railroads from that governing the taxation of other property. The railroads claim, and the Courts confirm the claim, that if mortgages are, for the purposes of taxation, an interest in the property taxed, and can be deducted from the assessed value of the property and taxed over to the mortgagee, then no different principle can be constitutionally applied to railroad property, but that the mortgage bonds must be taxed separately and deducted from the value of the property, as in the case of private individuals. This would seem to be a finality. There is no way in which this question can be further tested. The railroads have gained their point in all the courts, and the matter is now res adjudicata. That being the case, it will be the duty of the next Legislature to formulate an amendment to the Constitution that will place railroad property on the same footing, as regards taxation, as individual property. This will be a proper time to seriously consider the question whether any beneficial object has been gained by taxing mortgages. Practically the law works against the interest of the borrowers, when it was intended to relieve them by making the money-lenders pay their full share of the taxes. All who have had occasion to mortgage their property have found that the taxes, with a big margin on the side of the lender, have been added to the interest, so that the borrower has really been compelled to pay in interest more than the taxes would have come to if they had not been assessed over to the mortgagee. In addition to this unexpected working of the device in the new Constitution, it is certain that it has not operated to increase the volume of taxation, and thus help to lessen the rate. So that it will doubtless be found, upon a full discussion of the question in all its bearings and ramifications, that it will be better for the debtor class and no detriment to the State to let mortgages go untaxed. Eastern capital is timid, and will not come to California for investment in mortgages as long as this peculiar device for making them, for the purposes of taxation, an interest in the property mortgaged is continued. If we should return to the system that formerly prevailed here, and which is now the rule in nearly all the States of the Union, capital will come to us in large quantities to be loaned on bond and mortgage, and competition for loans will tend to bring interest down here to something approaching the rate which prevails the other side of the Rockies.

Home Manufactures.

Here is a straw which indicates the most favorable wind that has blown this way for a long time. Mr. W. E. Hughes, Chairman of the Committee on Manufactures of the Chamber of Commerce, has taken a great deal of interest in his branch of the work of the organization. The work of the Chamber is not without results by any means. We learn through the committee referred to that a tannery on a large scale is about to be put in operation in this city. The most important feature of this enterprise is that it will be set on foot entirely by home capital. The people who are engaged in this business are men of the highest business standing and of very ample means. For some time the matter has been under investigation, the result of which has been that arrangements are about complete to take steps for beginning the industry. It is found that a most inviting opening is found here for the manufacture of certain grades of leather, and the services of a tanner have been secured who has already made a reputation for the making of these very grades of leather.

This industry will have these very satisfactory affects. It will use up a large amount of the raw products of this section. It will give employment to a large number of resident laborers, and it will keep the profits of the business at home to go into other enterprises, instead of these profits going abroad as is the case when development is effected by the use of foreign capital.

It is a most encouraging sign of the times to see local capital being invested in local industries. If other capitalists would look as carefully into the situation as these have, other branches of industry would be discovered where quite as good openings as this exist. True, there is much temptation to loan money at a high rate of interest, but there are local enterprises the profits of which might be made greater than the usufruct of money even at the high rates ruling here now.

COMMISSIONER KERCHEVAL says that there need be no apprehension felt that the vedolia will die out. It has passed the winter in admirable form, and is spreading wherever it can find its natural food, the white scale. It is a case of the survival of the fittest. When the last scale is devoured by the last vedolia then we may look for the latter's extinction, unless, in the meantime, he should cultivate a taste for some of the other tree pests, and turn in and rid us of them. The red scale is kept down in our local orchards by frequent spraying of the trees. Indeed that process industriously applied is bringing out some of our old orchards in fine style. Mr. George Dalton's place now presents what is considered the cleanest and finest orchard in or near this city, his fruit being large and finely colored, and bringing a much higher price than that of his less enterprising neighbors. Frequent spraying with the solution recommended by the Board of Horticulture has brought this about. It is the same with Major Knowlton's trees, and Mrs. Dorsey had a crop of fine clean, large fruit, the result of constant spraying, which sold for an extra price. It pays to spray, not only in the immediate returns from the fruit, but in the gradual effect of wearing out the red scale and ultimately getting rid of it altogether.

AT THE CAPITAL.

The Montana Senatorial Contest.

REPUBLICANS TO BE SEATED.

Committee Reports on the Question. A Prolonged Debate in Prospect.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD

WASHINGTON, March 8.—The Senate committee on privileges and elections, after a long session today, finally reached a decision in the case of the contested Montana Senatorships, and by a party vote, decided to recommend to the Senate that Power and Saunders, the Republican Senators, be seated.

The ground upon which the majority of the committee takes its stand as a basis for its recommendation, is that the Republican House of Montana was the legal House, as its members held certificates of election from the election officers, and was recognized as the legal House by the State Senate.

The report of the committee will not be made for several days, as it will be a long document, discussing both the law and the facts in the case. Gray, it is expected, will prepare a minority report. The presentation of the reports will be the signal for an extended debate, and it may be several weeks before the Senate will reach a vote on the subject. Turpie is of the opinion that no election has been accomplished, and the case should be remitted to the State of Montana for action. He may make an independent report to that effect.

THE CHANDLER-CALL DIFFICULTY.

The Senate committee on privileges and elections today considered the resolution offered by Chandler regarding the interpolation by Call of certain remarks in his speech on the murder of Deputy Marshal Saunders, in Florida. The committee decided to recommend that the Record shall contain a report of Call's speech according to the notes of the official reporters. On the question of the limit of the debate within parliamentary bounds, the committee will recommend that it be referred to the committee on rules for definition. The committee will also ask that the committee on rules be requested to report an amendment to the rules by which the columns of the Record be protected from any interpolation.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Public Building Measures Under Consideration.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—In the House today the morning hour was consumed in the discussion of the bill for the compulsory attendance of witnesses before Registers of Land Offices. The House then, in committee of the whole, resumed consideration of public building measures.

The first bill called up was that increasing from $350,000 to $650,000, the limit of the cost of the public building at Newark, N. J., and making an appropriation of $300,000 increase.

Blount raised the point of order that it was not within the power of the committee on public buildings and grounds to recommend an appropriation.

After a long discussion, the appropriation clause was stricken out, and the bill, as amended, was laid aside with a favorable recommendation.

After several other bills were considered, the committee arose and reported the bills to the House, which immediately found itself in a small deadlock. There was no quorum to pass bills, and the friends of the measure would not consent to an adjournment.

Finally the previous question was ordered on all the bills, and it was agreed that they should be considered Tuesday morning.

Adjourned.

Representative Vandever today introduced a bill to establish a life-saving station at Hueneme, California.

UNION PACIFIC BONDS.

Windom Exchanging Sinking Fund for First Mortgage Paper.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Acting under the opinion of the Attorney-General that he has discretionary power in the matter, Secretary Windom has begun the purchase of Pacific railroad sinking fund bonds, and the investment of the proceeds in first mortgage bonds of the subsidized roads. The purchases for the present will be confined to Government 4 per cents, of which there are now available $4 500 000. About the amount of those already purchased is $700,000, and the proceeds were invested in mortgage bonds of the Union and Central Pacific roads.

NEW YORK, March 8.—An Evening Post reporter called on Sidney Dillon and asked him for particulars regarding Secretary Windom's proposition to substitute for United States 4 per cent bonds, amounting to $4,000,000, which now form part of the sinking fund of the Union Pacific Railroad, an equal amount of first mortgage bonds of that railroad, bearing 6 per cent interest. Dillon remarked that he was not at liberty to say how the matter was standing between the Government and the railroad, but acknowledged that such an arrangement will be regarded favorably by the latter, the sale of its bonds being an advantage, while the interest, although coming out of the road's earnings, would be applied towards the extinction of the road's liability to the Government. "What the Government ought to do, however," said Dillon, in conclusion, "is to take the bonds of our branch roads in exchange for its bonds. These bonds have been declared to be of benefit to the main line, and the substitution of their securities for Governments will be of greater advantage to the road than even the present arrangement.

LEGS GROUND OFF.

A Cable Railway Laborer's Horrible Mishap.

DENVER, March 8.—A peculiar accident occurred here this evening, which may cost a man his life. S. Eufftoffel, a laborer, while doing some repairs on one of the city cable lines, had his legs close to the moving cable, which caught one of them below the knee and literally ground it off before the cable could be stopped. The power house was six blocks away, and during the twenty minutes required to notify them to stop the engines, the poor fellow's body was kept from being drawn in and ground up by a dozen bystanders taking hold of his arms and clothing, and with their united strength keeping him from being torn to pieces.

The Rival Baseballists.

NEW YORK, March 8.—The first step in the new series of lawsuits of the Metropolitan Exhibition Company against the local Players' League Club was taken today, when Lawyer Duyestern sent out notices to President McAlpin, Vice-President Talcott, Secretary Robinson and other directors of the New Yorks, limited, warning them to keep their hands off the old Giant ballplayers or take their chances of a lawsuit for damages. This action on the part of the League club had been anticipated for several days, and is not likely to create any serious emotion among the players' backers. They will go right ahead with the work of constructing grounds in preparation for the coming ball season.

WANTS TO DISSOLVE.

The Old Credit Mobilier on Its Last Legs.

PHILADELPHIA, March 8.—Charles R. McMichael today made application to the Court of Common Pleas in the matter of the petition of the Credit Mobilier Company of America for dissolution. The accounts show that the corporation is possessed of books and papers used by it, which are of no value, and that the corporation has no outstanding obligations of any kind. Treasurer Ham avers that prior to 1872 and since, the corporation had no property or assets except claims to certain lands in Iowa and Nebraska, and claims against the Union Pacific Railway Company, all of which claims were contested. All the various claims and suits have been adjusted. Judge Williamson took the matter under advisement.

LAND LEAGUE DOCUMENTS.

Their Disappearance Explained by the Man Who Burned Them.

CHICAGO, March 8.—Michael Corcoran, of Lincoln, Neb., has written a letter to the Inter-Ocean, explaining why the books and checks of the Irish Land League were not produced before the Parnell Commission in London. Corcoran says Patrick Egan left these papers with him in the Hibernian Bank, at Dublin, in 1888. Subsequently Egan left for America, and it seemed best to him (Corcoran) to have the books and checks burned, though Egan in a note had assured him there was no treason in them. Corcoran says it was his own thought to burn them, without a suggestion from anybody else, and, if it was a fault, it was his alone.

More Snow at Sissons.

SISSONS Cal., March 8.—Five inches of snow fell today. This is a clear, cold night. The trains from Ashland and Redding got in somewhat behind time.

BUENA VISTA STREET.

People in a Hole Want to Get Out.

EDITORS HERALD—Apropos of the establishment of the grade of Buena Vista street from Temple street to Bellevue avenue, which has been pending before the Council for several months, and which was recently vetoed by his Honor the Mayor, it seems that the Mayor has been actuated by considerations wholly for the high part of the historic ground, and has forgotten the history of the lower lands.

Mrs. Slotterbee and myself have paid taxes for many years on property located east of the street, and have laid our plans with the hope of some day having a reasonable grade established. We are subject to overflow from the water that comes from the higher side of the street.

The fence or wooden wall built in front of Judge Hall's place is liable to be washed down, and all the mass of loose earth behind it will be precipitated on our property. Our houses are in danger of being thrown down, and our lives are not secure.

We work and try to protect ourselves, but to no purpose.

With a good grade on the street we would be protected and our property would have value. We know that when the grading is done the damage to property on the high side of the street must be paid, and we are willing to bear our proportion. Those who wish to maintain the present state of affairs and keep our property of little value and in an unsafe condition, do not offer to compensate us for the damage. We are down in a hole and they would try to keep us there. The street has two sides—they consider one.

If the Council sustains the veto of the Mayor, and refuses to give us a good grade, will the city be responsible to us if our houses are washed away. The lands on the west side of the street, when sold, were bought for trifling sums because of the fact that Buena Vista street would, at some time, have to be cut down.

I earnestly hope that the City Council will not be influenced by considerations for the wealthy alone, or by the interest of one end of the street. Take a view of the whole street, gentlemen, and remember those of us who are compelled to live in the low lands.

PROF. A. CUYAS, A. M.

"Waterman First, the Rest Nowhere"

The San Bernardino Courier quotes approvingly the article in the HERALD in regard to Governor Waterman's candidacy and adds: "And yet but a few weeks ago, when the Courier declared that Waterman was by all odds the leading and favorite Republican candidate in the field, the HERALD was insisting that his candidacy was a farce, and his nomination impossible. [Great changes in Republican sentiment have taken place since that time.—ED. HERALD.] The truth is that Waterman has, from the moment he announced himself as a candidate for the nomination, been growing steadily in the favor of his party. As the Republican field stands at present, Waterman is first and the rest nowhere. He is strong with his party in the north, strong in the middle counties, and stronger still in the south. So far, he has practically had the field to himself. Out of sectional necessity, as well as out of choice, he will have an overwhelming support from the five southern counties, for Waterman is the only southern man who can get the Republican nomination. The appearance of any other southern man before the convention would simply be a morally treasonable strategic demonstration in behalf of the north, and the people know it."

Where the Leak Was.

Mr. Billus (looking over his expense account)—"Maria, we spent exactly $50 more than our income last year. We've got to retrench."

Mrs. Billus—"It wasn't my fault, John. I didn't lose $75 on the election, nor pay out $50 in club dues, nor spend $65 for cigars, nor run through with $120 in three days at the races, nor endorse a note for $200 for a mere acquaintance, and lose it, nor——"

Mr. Billus (still looking through the expense account)—"None of these things account for that $50. By Jove! Here it is! 'Subscription to pastor's salary, $50!' Maria, we can't stand that! The preacher will have to get along without anything from me this year!"—Chicago Tribune.

ABOUT THE STREETS.

The First-Street People Talk About Grades.

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION.

A Union Pacific Rumor—Other News of More Than Ordinary Importance.

Pursuant to the call published in the columns of the daily newspapers, a number of the owners of property on First street, west of Broadway, and on the intersecting streets within one block, between Broadway and Beaudry avenue, met at the rooms of the Board of Trade last night for the purpose of providing ways and means for opening First street, between the points named, "in accordance with an agreement herstofore made with the property owners, and duly signed by a very large majority; which agreement was duly presented to the Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles, and which seems to have been lost sight of, and no attention paid thereto."

Mr. S. B. Lewis, president of the Board of Trade, was unanimously elected chairman of the meeting, and Mr. C. H. Connell officiated as secretary.

The object of the meeting having been stated, suggestions were invited from the property-owners present as to the best means of accomplishing the desire of the meeting in having First street graded, and to bring such influence upon the members of the Council as would at least secure a hearing in the matter.

Attorney O. O. Trantum made a lengthy oration in favor of a traffic grade, but vigorously opposed the absurd notion of cutting down the hills in order to compete with the thousands of acres of level land in the plains round the city. He argued that people like Mr. L. L. Bradbury chose the hills in preference to the valleys as residence sites, and paid prices in proportion to the altitude of the hills for such sites; that in time this very hill country, which everyone was now crying down, would be the crowning glory of the city, and that Nature, or God, or both of them created them for that special purpose. He said that a petition had been sent to the Council, asking it to give the property-owners a traffic grade, but that it had been unheeded. The petition had been held back until the Council could attach to it a gigantic scheme of connecting the West Enders with the city by means of a tunnel through Second street. He maintained that First street could not be opened to a "traffic grade" because the property adjoining it could not bear the expense, and that the expense of tunneling Second street would cost at least double the estimated amount of $200,000. He stated that Eaton's estimate would turn out to be like that of his Ballona outfall sewer—at least 50 per cent. short. He said that it ought to be the sense of the meeting to face the music and say to the Council, once for all, "Keep your hands off." He said that the hills which it was now proposed to cut down or tunnel had stood as they were for ages, and would remain untunneled, in his opinion, long after those men had "turned up their toes to the daisies." This was not the proper time to tunnel Second street merely to benefit a small percentage of property owners on the corner of Second and Spring streets. The speaker and Contractor J. F. Donegan became involved in a controversy about the grading of a portion of Flower street at this juncture, but Mr. J. H. Dockweiler rose to a point of order and asked that the five-minute rule of parliamentary usage be enforced upon the gentleman. The chair, however, allowed Mr. Trantum to proceed, and at the conclusion of his declamation in favor of the grading of First street as petitioned for, Mr. J. Robson moved that it be the sense of the meeting that the Council establish a grade in conformity with the petition. Mr. J. H. Dockweiler vigorously opposed the projected grade of one in ten, on behalf of the owners of the block between Broadway and Hill streets, and objected to the idea of being called upon to pay the same percentage of assessment as the residents of First street between Olive and Grand avenue. He also objected to spoiling the cross streets with the rise of six feet at the crossings, as proposed, merely to gain two feet in a block. Contractor Donegan informed the meeting that before any new grade was established he wanted to know whether a contractor had any rights, as he already had a contract for the grading of First street from Grand avenue to Broadway, and he was not going to lose about $5,000 already put in without a struggle. Mr. W. W. Robinson said that a change of grade would not affect Donegan, and the chair ruled that the meeting was not called for the purpose of considering Donegan's rights, as that was a matter for the courts to decide, whereupon Mr. Donegan subsided. A lengthy debate ensued, in which Messrs. Trantum, Biles, Robson, Dockweiler, Walker, Robinson, Blanchard, L. N. Breed and Connell took part, and at its close the motion of Mr. Robson was put and carried.

Mr. Robson's motion that the chair appoint a committee of three to carry out the objects of the resolution by presenting it in proper shape to the Council, also prevailed, and Messrs. J. Robson, E. T. Wright and Robert Steere were appointed as such committee. A collection was then taken up to defray the expenses of the meeting, and an adjournment was made.

A Union Pacific Rumor.

A rumor was in circulation yesterday to the effect that the Union Pacific had made a purchase of fifty acres inside the city limits, to be used as a depot site. The origin of the rumor was traced to a Main-street real estate firm, who professed to have information in which they placed the utmost confidence, but the source of which they refused to divulge. Their statement was that an agent for the company had signed papers for the purchase of the Keller property, a tract which lies between Alameda and Spence streets, and between Sixth and Seventh streets. It was said that the Union Pacific intended to build a long bridge over the river and the Santa Fe track to enter their property near Sixth street.

I. W. Hellman, who is executor of the Keller estate, was seen by a reporter last night, and affirmed that there was no truth in the rumor, and that he knew of no negotiations looking to the purchase of the land by the Union Pacific Company.

A Water Supply.

A number of the Councilmen were conveyed yesterday by Major E. L. Stern to the proposed site for his reservoir from which he expects to supply the city with water. This site is about twelve miles north of the city, and when the dam is built the water will cover in the neighborhood of 1,600 acres. The party did not return until late in the afternoon, but its members were well pleased with what they saw. The application for the franchise will probably be discussed tomorrow by the Council.

BASE BALL.

A Game Spoiled by the Rain Yesterday.

The threatening aspect of the weather discouraged the baseball enthusiasts yesterday afternoon, and at 2:30 o'clock not more than two hundred spectators had passed through the gates at the Athletic park grounds. Those who braved the elements were doomed to disappointment, however, as at the close of the second inning the rain came down and effectually damped the spirits of both players and spectators, and "time" being called by Umpire Conn, Manager Robinson announced that rain checks would be given to the spectators entitling them to admission this afternoon.

Cobb was put on to pitch for the Oaklands with Dungan behind the bat, Darby and Meneffee forming the battery for the Angeleños. Neither team scored in the first innings, the local nine being retired in short order. Goldie flew to O'Neill, and Swan to Isaacson. Lohman made a safe hit, but tried to steal second while Meneffee was at the bat and failed. For the visitors, O'Neill went out on a fly to Swan. Brown and Dungan were awarded their bases on balls, the former, however, being put out while attempting to steal third base, and Hill was struck out.

In the second innings, the local nine scored the first and only tally. Meneffee died on first; but Breckenridge made a safe hit, reached second on Ward's wild throw, got to third on Holliday's sacrifice, and came home on Brittain's base hit. The latter was put out at first, while Young was at the bat.

The Oaklands again failed to tally. McDonald and Enell died on first, and Isaacson flew to Lohman. Time being called at this juncture on account of the rain, the game stood in favor of the Angeleños 1 to nil.

Weather permitting, the same teams will play again this afternoon, and as this will be, in all probability, the last opportunity afforded to local enthusiasts of seeing two such well-matched teams for some time to come, a large attendance may be confidently expected, such as that of last Sunday. The Oaklands are still unwilling to admit that the local boys can outplay them, and are determined to win their last game at all hazards, in order to redeem some, at least, of their lost reputation; and should the diamond be fit to play on, a red-hot game is assured.

THE SAILORS' RETURN.

Kemp and Busch Found Safely Guarded at Catalina.

The Sheriff's bluff to get the missing sailors given up told like a charm. When the seven men found themselves behind the bars charged with the murder of the kidnaped men, they weakened, and yesterday some of the gang at San Pedro whispered it around where the men were, and Captain Anderson, deputy sheriff at that place, lost no time in getting over to Catalina island, where he soon found Busch and Kemp safely guarded by a man named Fred Entewoldsen. The men tell their own story: They were taken from the Nettie Lundborg, on the night of Wednesday, February 26, in a boat to Rattlesnake island. There they were kept for some time, and then the men who had them on Catalina took them to Portuguese bend, or Carolina harbor, as Colonel J. K. Tuffree calls it now. Here they were kept all Thursday, and then they were taken to Catalina island. They state that the first thing the boarding party of kidnapers did was to put out the light in the cabin. After they had taken them from their bunks and placed them in a little sailboat lying alongside of the Nettie, the kidnapers held a consultation in one end of the boat. At this time Kemp and Busch had not been given an opportunity to get their clothes, and they had concluded that it was going hard with them. They determined, however, to sell their lives dearly, and as each man had a knife, he prepared himself to use it in case of an emergency. But the emergency never came. The sailors were treated without any cruelty by the kidnapers, as they offered no resistance, but did as they were told.

Entewoldsen has been added to the number of the men locked up for the kidnaping.

F. C. Kiel, the ringleader of the gang, appeared before Justice Lockwood at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning for preliminary examination upon the charge of having assaulted J. E. Johnson with a deadly weapon, at San Pedro, on the 26th ult., but a material witness for the prosecution being sick in the hospital at San Pedro, and therefore unable to be present, the case was continued until Thursday morning next.

THE RAILROADS.

The Pasadena Celebration—Rebuilding in Soledad.

Invitations have been issued from the committee of the Pasadena Board of Trade for the celebration tomorrow of the opening of the Los Angeles, Pasadena and Glendale railway. Trains will leave the depot at the east end of Downey-avenue bridge, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and will leave Pasadena to return to this city at 5 or 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The invitations contain each a badge, which serves as a ticket over the road and calls for suitable entertainment at the Pasadena end. The Southern Pacific special excursion to Catalina which was to have taken place today has been postponed on account of the Pasadena celebration.

President Manvel and General Manager Wade returned to the city from San Diego last night and went to the Westminster.

Very few oranges have been sent east this week, the market still remaining in an uncertain condition from overstocking.

J. A. Muir, assistant division superintendent of the Southern Pacific, says that the work of rebuilding the line through the Soledad cañon has been nearly completed and was a large undertaking. A yard of six tracks was put in a couple of miles from Southside and the new road on the left hand side of the cañon has now been graded as far as Langs. The company is now putting in the bridges. There are 2,000 Chinamen and 150 white men. Two or three tunnels are in process of construction.

BUSY BOOMERS.

How They Swarm Around the Cherokee Strip.

THICK AS FLIES IN JUNE TIME.

Alleged Hunters Picking Out Desirable Claims—Trouble Expected.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—The latest advices from Oklahoma Territory are to the effect that not only scores but hundreds of "prairie schooners" filled with "boomers" hunting for choice lands, are moving over the Cherokee strip in all directions, and single men and parties with guns on their shoulders, who claim to be hunters, but who are really selecting land, are encountered daily. More than half a dozen boomers' organizations have been formed at the Kansas and Oklahoma line, and the boom is on in dead earnest, and it is believed the Government will find it very difficult to suppress or even control it. The boomers are also collecting on the Iowa reservation, east of Oklahoma and south of the strip, in great numbers. It is believed the Indian police who are under orders from Chief Mayes to clear the strip, will be totally unequal to the work. A report is in circulation that the colonists have made an agreement for a concerted movement to invade the strip April 22nd.

CATTLEMEN FURTHER PROSCRIBED.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March 8.—Immediately after the issuance of the President's proclamation ordering the cattlemen to remove their herds from the Cherokee strip, they began to negotiate for leases on several Indian reservations in the Territory. Some of them have consummated such leases. All are greatly excited today by receiving notice from Indian Agent Wood that Commissioner Morgan had instructed him to allow no arrangements to be made with any cattlemen or others to treat with the Indians for lands for grazing purposes, and not to allow cattle upon any reservation.

A Barber's Pleasant Talk.

Said the barber, as he began operations on Mr. Billings's three days' growth of beard, "I have not always been in this business."

"Oh," answered Billings, who thought he saw a chance to be funny, "anyone could see that. If I am not mistaken you used to be a butcher."

"I don't see how you guessed it, but you are right," was the reply of the artist. "Well, I wasn't exactly a butcher, but what you might call a second assistant. You see, it was my business to take the hog or sheep, or whatever animal might be in need of my attention, by the chin—just this way—take a big knife—just like this—and cut his throat. But I—do you always perspire at that rate when you are getting a shave? It is a little warm in here—I had to give the business up. It got to preying on my mind, so to speak. There was a sort of fascination about the thing," continued the barber, as he began to operate on Mr. Billings's neck whiskers, "a sort of horrible fascination. I got so I couldn't look at an innocent lamb without thinking how easily and artistically—hold your chin up a little higher, please—how gracefully and delicately, I may say, I could let the glad sunlight into his breathing apparatus at one swipe, so to speak. You cannot realize what a passion it became, unless you had been in my place. Hold your chin a little higher, please. There, that's the position exactly."

And that barber continued to talk about the delights of the butchering business, all the while fixing Mr. Billings with his glittering eye, till the poor man submitted to a shampoo, a haircut and a seafoam—but Billings declined to have his face gone over a second time.

"I 'spect I've lost a customer," said the barber to himself, as his victim disappeared up the street with a wild look in his eyes, "but I don't think he'll ever try to kid no more barbers when the barber has got him down and has got all the best of it."—[Terre Haute Express.

POURIM CELEBRATION.

Entertainment of the B'nai B'rith School.

A most interesting gathering of the Jewish congregation in celebration of Pourim took place last night at Turner hall, which was filled to its utmost capacity by as select a crowd as ever was within walls. When the curtain rose the view was actually enchanting, several hundred children dressed in the most beautiful attire, light and brilliant colors prevailing, occupying the stage. The programme was becoming the occasion, remembering principally the origin of the Pourim, the feast of Esther. The musical selections were carried out in splendid style, and Professor Loeb deserves the utmost credit for his leadership. So does Rabbi Blum, who trained the children to such perfection that their elocution surpassed the degree generally attained at their age. Some of the boys and girls were especially proficient.

Every one of those who took part deserve the utmost credit, especially Master Suskind, who played a violin solo from Mozart's Magic Flute very creditably; Misses Therese and Hortense Levy, who performed a four-handed piece on the piano; and last, but not least, Miss Tillie Loeb, daughter of Prof. Loeb. Particular praise is due to Miss Rosa Lazare and Miss Aggie Kremer, who instructed the young ladies for the performance of the floral dialogue, which justly met with such enthusiastic appiause.

The audience included some of the most prominent citizens, Mr. H. W. Hellman, Mr. Eugene Germain, Mr. Kasper Cohn, H. Suskind, Harris Newmark, M. A. Newmark, and others.

The evening concluded with a ball, old and young joining in the dancing. The festival lasted until morning and will be long remembered by those present.

About the Great Lakes.

By far the deepest lake in the world is Lake Baikal, in Siberia, which is in every way comparable to the great Canadian lakes as regards size; for, while its area of 9,000 square miles makes it about equal to Erie in superficial extent, its enormous depth of between 4,000 and 5,000 feet makes the volume of its waters almost equal to that of Lake Superior. Although its surface is 1,300 feet above the sea level, its bottom is nearly 3,000 feet below it. The Caspian lake or sea, as it is usually called, has a depth in its southern basin of over 3,000 feet. Lake Maggiore is 2,800 feet deep, Lake Como nearly 2,000 feet, and Lago-di-Garda, another Italian lake, has a depth in certain places of 1,700 feet. Lake Constance is over 1,000 feet deep, and Huron and Michigan reach depths of 900 and 1,000 feet.

In the Cascade mountains, about seventy-five miles northeast of Jacksonville, Ore., is Great Sunken lake. It is said to average 2,000 feet down to the water on all its sides. The depth of the water is unknown, and its surface is as smooth and unruffled as a mammoth sheet of glass, it being so far beneath the mountain rim as to be unaffected by the strongest winds. It is about fifteen miles in length and four and one-half miles in width.

Lake Superior is larger than any other inland sea except the Caspian and the Albert Nyanza, with its lately discovered extension. The Caspian covers an area of 176,000 square miles and has a depth of but 250 feet. Lake Superior has an area of 32,000 square miles and a depth of 1,000 feet.—[Philadelphia Press.

In Its Worst Form—"White Swelling" Cured.

The remarkable effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the following case illustrates the power of this medicine over all blood diseases:

"My son, 7 years old, had a white swelling come on his right leg below the knee, which contracted the muscles so that his leg was drawn up at right angles. Physicians lanced the swelling, which discharged freely, but did not help him materially. I considered him

A Confirmed Cripple.

I was about to take him to Cincinnati for an operation, expecting his leg would have to be taken off, and began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla in order to get up his strength. The medicine woke up his appetite, and soon pieces of bone were discharged from the sore. We continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it seemed to be doing him so much good, and the discharge from the sore decreased, the swelling went down, the leg straightened out, and in a few months he had perfect use of his leg. He is now apparently as well as ever." JOHN L. MCMURRAY, Notary Public, Ravenswood, W. Va.

AT THE PAVILION.

The Citrus Fair Authorities Beginning to Get Things in Shape.

The citrus fair authorities took possession of Hazard's Pavilion yesterday morning, and put in a day of hard work in getting the place in shape for the display. The seats and raised flooring were taken out both below and above stairs, but the partitions which shut in the wings by the side of the stage will probably be left in place, as this is a part of the building which has never been very convenient as space in which to display exhibits.

The first work undertaken after the clearing of the room was the arrangement of the decorations. A large loop of evergreen was suspended from the ceiling and through this was passed a great number of orange and green streamers, extending from the stage to the further end of the house, or from one gallery to the other. Between the streamers were cords, from which hundreds of Japanese lanterns were hung. The effect of the whole when finished was very satisfactory.

A number of line-men of the electric company were at work yesterday in putting in extra lights. The hall will be brilliantly illuminated at night.

Early in the day the exhibits began to arrive, and a number of people called to make entries. Fruit from Santa Barbara and San Diego and San Fernando arrived yesterday, and will be unpacked as soon as the tables and stalls are in shape to receive it. The number of entries yesterday was so large that it becomes evident that the superintendent must refuse some of the fruit that is offered last if it continues at the same rate today and tomorrow.

Superintendent Robinson, of the cable system, sent word yesterday to Captain Gray that he would make special provision on the Fifth-street line during the week of the fair, for cars enough to carry all visitors. He promised a five-minute service over the line from Temple block past the pavilion out Olive street through the days and evenings that the fair is open. After the evening performance a special relay of cars will be stationed in front of the pavilion, to be started as rapidly as filled.

The programme for the first night has been printed. The opening address will be delivered by Hon. J. De Barth Shorb and the fair will be formally opened by Governor Waterman. The military and uniformed secret organizations of the city will be present. This is considered the Los Angeles day. On this and every evening the Arend orchestra will give a well-selected promenade concert.

Wednesday is Santa Barbara and Orange county day. It is also school children's day, the admission for them being only ten cents until 6 o'clock in the evening. The special feature of the programme will be a series of gymnastic exercises by members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, led by Th. Bessing.

Thursday is San Diego day, and in the evening a number of members of the Ellis Club will sing. Friday is Pomona day. The military company and band will celebrate the afternoon, and in the evening the Turn Verein will give a performance. Saturday is San Bernardino day. The Riverside Ladies' band will give a performance in the afternoon, and the evening's entertainment will be in charge of the W. R. C.

It is admitted on all sides that the outlook was never better for any striking success than it is at present for the citrus fair. There is every evidence of unanimous enthusiasm among orange growers and a general desire to do the section justice in the undertaking. There is no longer any question about the quantity and quality of the displays. The only trouble will be to find room in the pavilion for the fruit which will be offered. There is no doubt, moreover, that the fair will attract an enormous crowd of visitors, and that it will be a success from every point of view.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers departed for the north yesterday: Mrs. Ebbitts, Major George E. Gard, Mr. Chickering, Mrs. Smith, George Lee, Mr. Gibson, Charles Ray, Mr. Boyd, Mr. Simpson.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

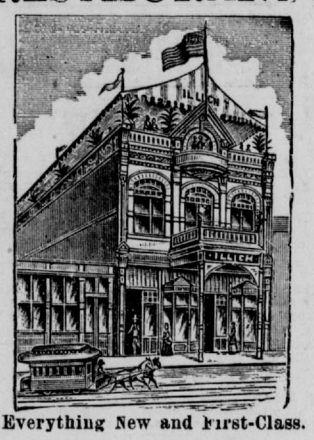

FOR MEDICINAL USE
NO FUSEL OIL

Every reader should bear in mind that the distinct claims made for this whiskey, and which its great popularity and universal use have proven, are absolute purity and superior power. It does not pretend to rank with the innumerable whiskies that are on the market, and the thousand concoctions which unscrupulous druggists seek to thrust upon their customers, but it maintains, as it has for years, its reputation as the only pure, uniform and reliable whiskey in the market. Send for an illustrated book descriptive of its merits.

C. H. MERRILL, Manager (during the summer season manager of the Crawford House, White Mountains, N. H.)
If you cannot go out to The Raymond and spend a day, a week, a month, or the whole season, then go out and stay a few hours. It is well worth your while to see the magnificent view from its piazzas; and that view alone will well repay you, although there are many other interesting features—especially the grand display of flowers in the hotel grounds, which are now under the charge of Mr. C. H. Hovey, the celebrated landscape gardener, formerly of Hovey's Nurseries, Cambridge, Mass. Tourists visiting Los Angeles should make a trip to The Raymond, even if their stay there must necessarily be brief. There are frequent trains between Los Angeles and The Raymond by several lines of railroad. The orchestra consists of four soloists, who render the choicest of music twice each day.
A very complete livery is connected with the hotel, and it is an excellent starting-point for a drive through the San Gabriel valley, in which are situated the San Gabriel Mission church, Rose's winery, Lucky Baldwin's stock farm, the Sierra Madre Villa, and many other places of interest.
Full particulars regarding board and other matters can be obtained by addressing C. H. Merrill, Manager of The Raymond, East Pasadena, California.

Captain Seamans's bond has been duly approved as Register of the Land Office in this city. He will formally take possession of his office tomorrow morning. He was in the office all day yesterday, and a busy time it was for him and for H. W. Patton, the retiring Register, who has so faithfully and efficiently filled the position for the past four years. Mr. Patton toiled away the whole day explaining to his successor the various ins and outs and details of the office. The Captain soon "catches on," and will step into the place tomorrow as serenely as if he had been Register for a year.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

The case of Belardez was called in Department 1 yesterday, but the defendant being dissatisfied with his own counsel, continuance to the 25th was granted.

Two informations were filed yesterday charging G. L. Dennison with selling the same piece of land twice. The case has been well ventilated already in the lower courts.

Judge Cheney yesterday admitted Chavez, who is charged with the murder of Charlie Glass, to bail in the sum of $8,000. In default of the bail he still remains in jail.

Miss Virginia A. Browning, of Vernon, was yesterday placed by Justice Lockwood under bonds in the sum of $200 to keep the peace for three months, she having, it is alleged, threatened to kill G. W. Kendall and his family because he foreclosed a lien upon a piece of property at Vernon which she had contracted to purchase.

Deputy Sheriff M. F. Cropley, of San Bernardino, passed through this city yesterday with two prisoners, whom he lodged in the city jail from 10 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, while waiting for the train to the north. The two men in his custody were Jim Connors and Jack Olsen, both of whom pleaded guilty a few days ago to having committed a crime against nature at San Bernardino. Both men were sentenced to imprisonment for two years and three months, Connors being committed to San Quentin and Olsen to Folsom penitentiary. They were taken north on the 1:40 train.

A colored woman named Mary Adams was sent to jail for five days by Justice Lockwood yesterday for petty larceny. At an early hour yesterday morning Mary was caught in the act of stealing a piece of lumber, 14 feet long, from the freight depot at San Fernando street by Special Officer C. C. Smith, of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. In her defense Mary created a good deal of amusement by inquiring of the court whether he called it stealing for a poor woman to walk up to a place where a man was standing, and to pick up a "piece of a stick," while he was looking at her, and to walk off with it. The court answered her that it was, and committed her to jail as above.

In East or West, or North or South,
They to themselves an outrage do,
Who cannot boast a fresh sweet mouth,
With teeth like pearls begemmed with dew,
When SOZODONT all this supplies,
And works the charm before our eyes.

The Demon Child.

The DEMON CHILD is the same which has created so much excitement in Cleveland, Ohio. The Demon Child was born in Cleveland, Ohio, of Russian parents. Of all the wonderful freaks of nature that have come into the world, this is certainly the greatest.

It has no resemblance whatever to humanity, but is in every respect what we would, in our imagination, call an infantile Devil, a brief description of which may be interesting:

It has heavy, overlapping ridges of flesh above the eyes; a broad, flat nose; damp, clammy lips, from which protrude long, curved tushes; enormous, flabby ears; bunches at the top of the forehead, from which on each side sprout horns. Instead of hands it has claws, and split hoofs instead of feet. Altogether making one of the most remarkable freaks of nature ever seen.

The most extraordinary representation of this wonderful freak of nature has been on exhibition in all the principal museums in the United States, and has the endorsement of the press and public wherever it has been. Will be on exhibition at the Citrus Fair, Hazard's Pavilion, March 11th to 15th.

The ladies are especially invited, as there is nothing to repulse the most fastidious.

SMALL FIRES.

Two Defective Flues Cause Alarms.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning an alarm was rung in from box 51 for a small blaze at the residence of Attorney George M. Holton, No. 227 Bunker Hill avenue. Before the arrival of the department, Mrs. Holton, taking in the situation at a glance, and finding that the blaze was caused by a defective flue and was confined to one room, shut the doors of the house to keep out the crowd, who appeared anxious to remove her furniture. Handing her baby, which she was carrying, to a friend standing by, the intrepid lady found an extra section of hose, attached it to the garden hose and fought the flames single-handed for several minutes with such vigor as to have them completely under control when the firemen appeared on the scene with their Babcock extinguishers. The damage by fire and water amounted to about $150.

About half an hour later the department was again called out for a small blaze in the Downey block, also caused by a defective flue, but its services were not required.

DISEASES OF THE

Head, Throat, Lungs

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.

M. C. P. S. O.,

By His Hot Air Medicated Inhalations and his COMPOUND OXYGEN TREATMENT.

ASTHMA.

It is a common error to suppose every disease which is attended by oppressed breathing to be Asthma or Phthisic. We have shortness of breath in Consumption and Pneumonia, just as we do in Asthma, only that in these diseases it is always present, whereas in Asthma it occurs in paroxysms.

Asthma is a spasmodic disease of the lungs, which manifests itself in periodic attacks or "fits." It comes on suddenly and is attended with great difficulty of breathing while it lasts, but when the attack is over the patient breathes almost as well as in health.

Nervous, Humid and Dry Asthma are names given to different forms of this disease. Emphysema is an other and more inveterate kind of Asthma, while Hay Fever or Rose Cold is a peculiar variety of Asthma which occurs at a certain season of the year. Each of these forms of disease differs somewhat from the others in symptoms, but practically these distinctions are of very little value. It does not matter to the patient which form of Asthma he has, since his sufferings are the same in all. In one case the expectoration becomes yellow, and we call it bronchial. In another it is light and we call it dry. When he coughs up clear water, with a white froth on the surface, we say he has Humoral Asthma. In Nervous Asthma there is very little expectoration of any kind. Hay Fever always begins as a crying cold in the head or influenza, and a clear water runs from the nose and the eyes before the Asthma fit comes on. In Emphysema the expectoration is generally thick, and continues so in the interval between the fits, while the shortness of breath is increased on the slightest exertion.

It is a foolish conceit of many people to believe that if they have Asthma they cannot get Consumption. The truth is the very opposite. They are more liable to fall into Consumption because they have Asthma. Another idea is that Asthma itself is not a dangerous disease, and yet the published bills of mortality for this city prove to all who read them that great numbers lose their lives every year by this foul destroyer of our homes.

Without courage and perseverance nothing is curable. But with these aided by proper and skillful treatment, Asthma can be cured even after the lungs are extensively diseased.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance from business whatever. Every case of Asthma is curable. Eastern visitors and invalids will be wise in being cured before they return home.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally can write for list of questions and circular, both of which will be sent free of charge. Address

ORANGE LANDS.

Maclay San Fernando Rancho

THE WATER SYSTEM

Has cost over $120,000 cash to January 1, 1890. All water is delivered along the streets in iron pressure pipes for irrigating and domestic purposes. Over 25 miles of mains and laterals are laid at a cash cost of over $73,000. The mains are from 6 inches to 24 inches in diameter. The water is from artesian wells and from the subterranean flow of Pacoima at the submerged dam. This dam is built of granite and Portland cement and cost $44,000 in cash. No seeds of weeds or germs of disease can ever enter the water pipes. The following letters show the land to be the best in Southern California for oranges.

GERMAIN FRUIT CO.,
E. Germain, President.

SAN FERNANDO LAND AND WATER CO.—In the interest of Los Angeles county, I take pleasure in stating that for several years past I have handled the San Fernando orange and lemon crops and have found no earlier, cleaner or sweeter oranges, or better lemons in the California market. They are absolutely clean, and free from any smut, dirt or discoloration whatever, and ripen earlier than any oranges or lemons in this section, and are fully up to the best Riverside fruit that I have ever seen.

San Fernando, February 20, 1890.
Messrs. Macneil, Hagar, Alexander, Maclay and Widney, Trustees of Maclay Rancho at San Fernando,
GENTLEMEN—In the interests of San Fernando and those seeking orange lands, I take pleasure in stating that I have been engaged in semi-tropic nursery and orchard raising for the past three years in this place, and I know of no place in Southern California superior to this locality for early, clean fruit of fine quality, and the growth of remarkably fine orange, lemon, lime trees, etc. All orchards and nurseries are free and absolutely clean from all insect pests, San Bernardino and San Diego county buyers show their appreciation of this place by quarantining against all other points in Los Angeles county except San Fernando. I am, gentlemen, respectfully yours,
JOHN BURR, District Inspector.

These lands are for sale in 10 to 40-acre tracts, with water rights, price $250 per acre and upward. Address R. M. WIDNEY,
